Little Literacy Learning Tasks

Are you a writing wizard or witch who would like the chance to win a fabulous prize and see your work published? All you need to do it write a poem or story under 500 words. It can be about anything you like as long as it is your own original work, so you can let your imagination run wild! More information here.	Peculiar Pets Poetry competition. Children to create a poem about their perfect pet and enter it into the competition. They could also create a video of them performing their poem to share on school website. What would your perfect peculiar pet be? An acrobatic bunny? A tech savvy puppy? A vegan crocodile? A giraffe that likes to race? A superhero cat? More information here.	Share your reflections on conflict or give a voice to those who may not have one. To inspire your poetry, art, speech or song, use the 5Ws to explore the theme. Who? This could be a conflict that has affected you / your family, or you could bring to light someone else's story. What? Conflict comes in many forms. What conflict affects you? When? You can look at a historical or current conflict. Where? This could be within your local community or around the world. Why? New voices and perspectives are important if we are to understand the true impact of conflict.	Design a place to live and work on Mars! What will your role on Mars be and how will you contribute? What equipment will you need to survive the hostile environment? How can you make your habitat sustainable and eco-friendly? What will you do for fun and relaxation? What will your habitat look like? https://literacytrust.org.uk/competitions/we-wonder-mission-mars/
